When Clint got to his room he threw back the covers on the bed. The slight breeze caused a note to flutter from the nearby dresser to the floor. He picked up the note and began to read.

Clint,

I found this under your mattress when I changed the sheets. What a great map you drew of Crabtree Corners!

Mom

A map? He stepped quickly to the dresser where the note had been. There lay a creased and yellowed map. And, of course, he hadn't drawn it at all.

It was the map that had been hidden under his mattress since the last trip he and his brother and sister had taken back in time. The map that had said You WILL be here. 70 Million Years Ago. A fact he hadn't shared with Mandy and Toby. If he had, they never would have used the spinning wheel to travel back to the time of the dinosaurs.

For over a year the map had said the same thing it had since they returned from their trip. You ARE here. The Treasure Chest. Crabtree Corners. And nothing exciting ever happened in Crabtree Corners. But that was about to change.
